

Communicate in an intercultural context

Introducing

Objectives

Acquire the foundations for international and intercultural communication

LV1

At the end of this module, the student should be able to read and understand a contemporary book and recent news articles in which the authors put forward ideas and opinions. (B2)

During a debate: produce a clear and concise account developing and confirming one's point of view with secondary opinions and pertinent examples. These opinions have to be logical. They also have to express a point of view showing both the advantages and disadvantages of a given subject. (B2-C1)

Write a review of a book in accurate formal English (B2-C1)

LV2

Know how to express an opinion with efficiency and ease and be able to take part in a discussion spontaneously, using an appropriate register and demonstrating a mastery of grammatical, lexical and syntactic bases.

Speak orally in front of a group.

For advanced level LV2:

Be able to reformulate the specific ideas of a press article, an audio/video extract either orally or in writing, demonstrating a mastery of the grammatical, lexical and syntactic bases.

Be able to write emails in the target language related to everyday situations, demonstrating a mastery of the grammatical, lexical and syntactic bases and the rules inherent in communication by email.

a) For Chinese beginners:

Master 100 to 110 active characters and 10 passive characters according to the threshold of 805 characters of the national program, be able to perform an oral reading of a Chinese text (about 100 characters)

Based on the information given, write sentences or a short text (about 100 characters), based on given events, facts or positions.

b) For advanced level Chinese:

Master 500 to 600 active characters and 30 passive characters, according to the threshold of 805 characters of the national program, be able to perform an oral reading of a Chinese text (approximately 300 characters)

Build a simple narrative/argumentation (approximately 300 characters) about a theme with or without supporting documents, which allows contextualization and nourishment of expression

c) LFS:

Synthesize specific information.

Being able to spatialize and personify signatory content

Express yourself in signs and iconicities in front of an audience

FLE

To develop the specific skills required to :

- Notetaking
- lead an oral presentation
- handle a job interview
- Lead a computer aided presentation

Necessary prerequisites

LV2 :

A minimum A2 level for advanced level courses.

No prerequisites for new languages.

Practical info

Location(s)

 Toulouse